Take these six classes (on pages 2 & 3) to receive a 36-bour Project Management certificate

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

In this class, you will learn and apply project management principles to a real class project. This is not a class to prepare you for the Project Management Professional (PMP®) exam but it does help you toward that goal. The class explores all areas of project management:

Introduction and Planning - Learn project management concepts, applications, and the project lifecycle.

Procurement and Contracting - Understanding the contracting and procurement process as well as the unique terminology.

Complete your project on time, within budget, and with satisfied customers. Leave the class with a new and successful outlook towards managing projects successfully.

PROJECT PLANNING & SCHEDULING TECHNIQUES

Planning and scheduling a project is a difficult but required task. Not only must the project manager know everything about the project but must also consolidate ALL the tasks into a cohesive schedule to guide the project and the team. Building a plan and a schedule is a group technique that requires leadership skills and attention to the big picture as wells as the details.

This hands-on class has participants developing a plan and setting up a schedule using simplified techniques that do not require a software tool.

Be ready to work when you sign up for this class!

Sat, 2/8 9:00am-3:00pm Health Science, room 104 $99 (plus $20 material fee, payable to Instructor).

"The Instructor was excellent at taking a complex subject and simplifying to an understandable level." Robert R.

BUSINESS & MANAGEMENT

BUSINESS PROCESS MAPPING

Numerous organizations have not defined their business processes. 85% of an organization's quality and efficiency problems either are built into its systems or are ill-defined. Learn how to identify and eliminate unnecessary costs and activities that do not add value.

Class subject areas include the identification of: core processes. non-value added work, and system flaws resulting in poor quality. Learn how to: define and develop process workflow; start Business Process Management (BPM) initiatives; dramatically improve efficiency and customer satisfaction. The skills learned can be applied in manufacturing, service, health care and public sector organizations.

Sat. 2/22 9:00am-4:00pm Health Science, room 103 $99 (plus $20 material fee, payable to Instructor).

DIFFERENTIATING YOURSELF IN THE WORKPLACE THROUGH LEADERSHIP

Studies continue to indicate that approximately 47% of management is still acting like individual contributors.

The old adage that "Leaders are Born" is just not true. Leaders are developed over time through knowledge of self, diverse subject matters, mentoring and guidance and critical decision making in times of change or uncertainty. True leaders pay it forward, are able see beyond the forest and inspire individuals to perform beyond expectations. This is not a class of skills assessment; it is a practical approach to developing the leader within you.

In this class, you will learn:

- Leadership practices and styles
- What will make you a leader?
- Identify and act on barriers to success
- · Break through the culture of your organization to succeed

ORGANIZE, PRIORITIZE & MANAGE YOUR TIME

An old saying about project work among experienced project managers is "the first 90% of a project is the easiest; the second 90% is the hardest". Getting organized and managing your time are skills that may benefit anyone at work or at home. These skills are normally acquired as we find out what does and does not work at the expense of numerous challenges or failures. Learn time-tested approaches to prioritizing your work and managing your time, free up more time in your day and accomplish more... doing it on your time.

In this class, you will take away methods, approaches and lessons about how to:

- Organize your workspace and environment
- Set up simple storage methods to retain information and work
- Keep track of information and the work you need to do
